FOUR PERISH IN $6,000,000 FIRE

FIREMEN MEET DEATH NEATH FALLING WALLS.

DISASTROUS NEW YORK BLAZE

PARKER BUILDING, 12 STORIES, A MASS OF RUINS.

NUMEROUS NARROW ESCAPES

Men and Girls, Working in Building When Blaze Is Discovered, Reach Safety in Nick of Time—In Addition to Dead, Several Firemen Are Hurt.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—Four firemen went to their deaths tonight when they responded to a fire that ruined the Parker building, a 12-story business structure which occupied the block between East Eighteenth and Nineteenth streets, on Fourth avenue. Fought by half the firemen of Manhattan and apparatus that blocked the streets, the flames were never controlled and only with difficulty were they confined to buildings in which they originated.

Floor after floor gave way and dropped to the basement, and beneath these and crumbling walls no less than 30 firemen were reported either killed or seriously injured.

When the fire had burned itself out [illegible] of engine company No. 21 [illegible] one of the patrol No. 1 failed to respond. The dead are: Thomas Phillips, Thomas O'Connor, John Lynch and John Fallon.

Tim Hutchinson of patrol No. 3 was removed dying to the hospital. Captains Weldon and Darwin of engine companies No. 21 and 72 were injured internally.

Loss Will Reach $5,000,000.

The monetary loss was estimated tonight at $5,000,000. The fire was one of the most spectacular as well as disastrous in recent years. From start to finish its course was marked by heart-rending scenes and dashes of heroism.

The building was occupied chiefly by publishing houses, though a score of other businesses had work rooms or offices there. The loss to the tenants is total. The fire started on the fifth floor in the offices of Roper and Jackson, publishers, and before a stream of water had fallen upon it had shot up through the elevator shafts and presently all of the upper floors were ablaze.

On the fifth floor, where the outbreak discovered the fire, five girls employed by the Dittmar Woolen company, were at work. As the flames leaped above them the girls hurried down stairs to the street.

Have Narrow Escape.

On the top floor in the Suffolk Engraving company's establishment, six men were working. Their escape was cut off and they fled to the roof. Flames had surrounded them on three sides and they were in imminent danger of death when rescued by means of a life line shot from a mortar gun and manned by a hook and ladder company on the roof of the Florence hotel, adjoining, on Eighteenth street. The hotel is seven stories in height, and from its roof a rope was fired across the top of the burning building. There it was seen by the imperiled men and the free end made fast about a chimney. Down this rope, hand over hand, dropped the six men to safety.

Meanline, the Florence hotel had been emptied of its 200 guests, and nearby houses were also vacated.

Three Firemen Caught.

Seven firemen of engine company No. 72, which first arrived, ran up to the fifth floor of the burning building, after 85-foot extension ladders had been raised to the windows of that story to make possible the firemen's retreat. After a fruitless effort to stay the flames at the place of

GOLDFIELD HAS MORE TROUBLE

Every Member of Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Goes Out on a Strike.

GOLDFIELD, Nev., Jan. 10.—Every member of the Brotherhood of Electrical Workers went on strike today, refusing to accept the new wage scale and open-shop policy of the Nevada-California Power company. Besides the men employed by the power body, the force of the telephone company is [illegible]. Only the local field of the company is affected, unless the other employes of the company, who are still drawing the old wage of $5, go out on a sympathetic strike.

General Manager Finis of the Nevada-California Power company said:

"[illegible] we pitted against the brotherhood, and that in declaring for an open shop we are [illegible] of [illegible] which we [illegible]

RIGHTS OF LABOR AND OF CAPITAL

TAFT FACES LARGE NEW YORK AUDIENCE.

GIVES HIS IDEAS IN DETAIL

SUBMITS TO RAPID-FIRE ATTACK FROM AUDIENCE.

ANSWERS QUESTIONS FREELY

Prompt, Forcible Replies and Occasional Witty Sallies Evoke Demonstration—Speech Is Well Received—Greeted as Next President.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—For the first time since he became a recognized candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, Secretary of War William H. Taft tonight faced a New York audience, set forth in detail his stand on the question of the relative interests and rights of labor and capital, and in turn submitted to a rapid-fire attack from the audience, which quizzed him keenly and in a somewhat controversial spirit, according to the practice of the People's Institute, whose guest he was.

The secretary proved totally [illegible] in attack and defense and his prompt and forcible replies and occasional witty sallies evoked the same demonstration of applause as greeted the salient points of his address proper. Two thousand persons, its capacity, had crowded into Cooper Union hall, while police reserves were summoned to clear the way in front of the building [illegible] a thousand or more had congregated.

Three Cheers for Next President.

As the form of the secretary made its way through the throng a shout of "three cheers for the next president" was the signal for a noisy ovation that continued until Mr. Taft bowed his acknowledgement from the platform.

In his prepared address, the secretary pointed out the dependence, one upon the other, of capital and labor. He declared that great aggregations of wealth, properly employed, widened the field of labor and were to be welcomed, while wealth improperly used was to be condemned. He urged a uniform law, firm as sympathy and the resultant co-operation made for the common good.

At the conclusion of his address the audience had its turn.

Chairman Charles Sprague Smith announced that Secretary Taft would read questions as they were handed up.

Brownsville Incident.

The first questioner desired to know if the secretary would stake his political future on the attitude taken by the administration on the Brownsville incident.

Secretary Taft declined to answer the question stating that the matter was now before the Senate committee and there had been no discussion in the Senate.

"Do you think a laborer gets enough money?" was another question, to which Secretary Taft laughingly responded:

"I don't know what a laborer gets. I don't know what labor he performs, but I do know that some get more than they ought to have, and I think some should get more."

There was a loud shout when the secretary commenced to laugh while reading over a question which inquired why he had changed his attitude toward labor, since he left the Ohio bench. The secretary declared that his attitude had not changed, and that the change he had said tonight he had always stood for.

Wouldn't Discuss Tariff.

"Is not an industrial situation based on a tariff, a false one?"

The secretary replied that if the tariff was abolished now there would be no business at all. Further, he said, he would not discuss the tariff at this time.

A question concerning the right of an employer to bring injunction proceedings induced the secretary to cite a case in which he appeared as counsel. Moore and company had obtained a judgment for $1,500 against a labor union, he said, and it took ten years to obtain the money. The secretary added that if an injunction had been obtained by Moore they would not have suffered any damage. Shortly afterward a humorously inclined auditor sent up the following question, which caused a general laugh:

"If it took Moore and company 10 years to collect $1,500, how long would it take the United States to collect $29,000,000 from the Standard Oil?"

Couldn't Solve Standard Riddle.

The secretary said that the solution would require an advanced form of mathematics, with which he was not familiar.

There was one query over which the secretary hesitated, while his face assumed a decidedly [illegible] expression. Then he read:

"What is a man to do who is out of work in a financial crisis, and is starving?"

There was an audible pause. The secretary looked to [illegible] far [illegible] of the big room and the long lines of workmen gathered there.

"I don't know," he replied. "They have my deepest sympathy, if they are [illegible] get work. It is an awful [illegible] to this question."

WOULD BURN BUILDING

THREATENS TO FIRE LENNOX BLOCK IN REVENGE.

Clarence Jennings, Discharged Employe of John Lennox, Sought by Officers of Law.

Threats to burn the Lennox building, 226-228 North Tejon street, out of revenge against its owner, John Lennox, resulted yesterday in the swearing out of a warrant for the arrest of Clarence Jennings.

Jennings had been in the employ of Lennox, but had been discharged recently on the grounds of incompetency and negligence. At that time he made threats to Mr. Lennox that he would "get even" by setting fire to his building on North Tejon street. The latter paid little attention to the threats at the time. A few days later they were repeated to a friend in a manner that indicated that Jennings was seriously contemplating carrying out his threat. Complaint being made, a warrant was sworn to in Justice Dunnington's court yesterday by Mr. Lennox.

Under the statutes of Colorado, a person can be placed under peace bond upon threats to injure life or property. As the carrying out of the threats he has made would not only destroy property, but jeopardize many lives, Jennings is considered liable.

The Lennox building is a three-story brick structure on North Tejon street, facing Acacia park. The ground floor is occupied by two large store rooms while the second and third are used for a rooming house. There are 30 to 50 people occupying the building at the present time.

PLAN DEMONSTRATIONS

SOCIALISTS PREVENTED FROM RIOTING BY POLICE.

Excitement at Berlin Reaches High Pitch When Mounted Officers Charge Large Crowd.

BERLIN, Jan. 10.—The Socialists today organized suffrage demonstrations before the building of Prussian landtag, in which a radical resolution, demanding universal suffrage in Prussian elections, was to come up for discussion. Although the Socialists had held a series of mass meetings last night, in a demonstration in favor of electoral reform, and these meetings had adjourned [illegible] to the landtag, the street demonstrations today took the population of Berlin by surprise. The police, however, were aware of the plans of the Socialists, and turned out a full force and succeeded in preventing the demonstrations anywhere reaching a [illegible]

AN IMPORTANT RULING

Mining Property to Be Reconveyed to Heirs of George Pobst.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 10.—Judge James Owen, in the district court today, made an important ruling in the case of the heirs of George Pobst against the Florida Gold Mining company, when he ordered that certain properties be reconveyed back to the plaintiffs. One quarter of the Uncle Sam lode, the Brunswick claim, including two and one-half acres which was sold to the Flying Cloud company, and the remaining portion which was sold to the Pinnacle Gold Mining company will be reconveyed back. Judge Owen also set aside the sale of the Uncle Sam, made by John Noton, administrator.

PARKER FLAMES "BIG STICK"

Points Out Danger of Putting "Untutored Idealism in Charge of Nation's Affairs"—Country Needs a Change, Declares the Judge.

KINGSTON, N. Y., Jan. 10.—Before an assemblage of political associates of his home county of Ulster, former Chief Judge Alton B. Parker, of the court of appeals, Democratic candidate for the presidency in 1904, spoke tonight of the causes of the recent "credit panic," and of what he considered the danger of putting "untutored idealism in charge of the nation's affairs." The occasion was a dinner given by four score or more of [illegible] Judge Parker was the guest of honor.

Judge Parker said in part:

"We are all members one of another. Oregon and Maine are linked together, if only by so humble a bond as the pine forests and great apple crops. Florida would be no stranger, whether she found herself seated under the flowered cocoanut that hangs in the hall on Beacon street, or sat in a California orange grove. Pittsburg and St. Louis may [illegible] accept their respective symbolic "Roosevelt currency" emblems simultaneously issued under the stress of the great "credit" panic.

"And here incidentally we can for at least one thing thank our present chief executive. He has bound us indissolubly together. He has taught us to rely upon each other and upon no [illegible]. He has shown us that peace, plenty and prosperity are no guarantee if we guard not the small but vital rights [illegible] in the office constitutional rights. At a time fortunately when we could endure it, he has taught us in practical the bitter lesson, that untutored idealism, that theory unimpaired by experience, that cult of youthfulness of intellectual [illegible] that becomes dangerous, when it takes upon an entire community.

BOYS CACHE GROCERIES

RAID STOREROOM, STEAL GOODS AND ARE ARRESTED.

Had Loot Secreted in Monument Valley Park and Were Planning to Take It to Texas.

Brought back from Texas, where they had goone with a quantity of goods, alleged to have been stolen from a stock of groceries in a barn at 314 Mesa road, Norbert Becquit and Ira Sterm, two 16-year-old boys, while the two stay-at-home members of the "gang," Noe McFarlan, age 16, and Leo McNally, age 12, will be brought before Judge Kerr in the juvenile court at 2 o'clock this afternoon.

The four boys were arrested yesterday by Probation Officer W. M. Rossover. They are charged with having last Tuesday night raided a barn, in which was stored a stock of groceries belonging to W. E. Jarvis. The boys are said to have carried the goods to Monument Valley park where they hid them in a cache, covered over with leaves. Not finding the market good, two of the kids decided that they would take a part of the stock and "blow" their way to Texas. They started Wednesday night and it was while attempting to dispose of the goods that they were detected.

The boys are: Noe McFarlan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noe McFarlan, 1024 North Pine street; Leo McNally, son of Mrs. Katie Leo McNally, 911 North Spruce street; Norbert Becquit, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Becquit, 1030 North Pine street, and Ira Sterm, son of Mrs. Hardy, 930 North Pine street. Joseph A. Cowan, a carpenter residing at 714 North Pine street, was also arrested, charged with contributing to juvenile delinquency in receiving some of the stolen stuff into his house. The Becquit boy is now on a parole from the Industrial school at Golden, while the McNally lad has been in court before.

CANAL ESTIMATE LOW

WILL COST IN NEIGHBORHOOD OF $200,000,000.

Wider and Longer Locks Than at First Proposed, and Higher Price for Labor Reasons.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 10.—Because of changed conditions from those existing in 1906, when the minority of the board of consulting engineers of the Panama canal submitted its report, it is now admitted in responsible quarters that the estimate made by that report for building the canal was far too low and that the cost will approximate $200,000,000. This includes various incidental items such as administration, sanitation and improvements, [illegible] several millions of dollars in Panama and Colon, which, however, will be refunded by the [illegible] government and the expense of the new government and various [illegible] incidental to the relocation [illegible] of the Panama railroad. ## MOFFAT ROAD IS NOW CERTAINTY

COMPANY FORMED TO PUSH CONSTRUCTION.

OPENING VAST MINERAL WEALTH

CONTRACT FOR WORK HAS ALREADY BEEN LET.

CAPITAL IS ALL SUBSCRIBED

Before Filing Articles of Incorporation, Directors of Denver Steamboat Construction Company Pledge Large Amount Toward the Work.

DENVER, Jan. 10.—Work on the spur of construction of the Denver, Northwestern and Pacific railroad (The Moffat road) is said to be assured due to an agreement reached today between David H. Moffat and the Denver Steamboat Construction company, which has been incorporated here with a capital stock of $1,000,000. The directors of the company are: Jerome B. Foster, Henry M. Porter, Harry A. Riter, Thomas F. Walsh, John F. Campbell, Charles Boettcher, Charles A. Hughes, Jr., William Byrd Page and Samuel M. Perry.

The officers of the company are: Jerome B. Foster president, Thomas F. Walsh, vice president, John F. Campbell treasurer, and Samuel M. Perry secretary.

Will Push Road Through.

The company was organized to construct railroads and to acquire and own securities. The immediate purpose of the organization was to build the Moffat road from its present terminus at Yarmony, through the extensive coal fields of the Oak Hills district in Routt county to Steamboat Springs, a distance of 88 miles. The contract for this work has been executed between the new company and the Denver Northwestern and Pacific railroad company.

Before the filing of the articles of incorporation of the Denver Steamboat Construction company, the directors had each subscribed important amounts to its capital stock, and subscriptions of other prominent men had also been secured, and a sufficient amount of money thus provided to insure the completion of the railroad.

Acting together with Mr. Moffat, the Denver and Utah men, who have now joined him in the enterprise, it is claimed, are financially able to construct the railroad through to Salt Lake City, without applying to any eastern capitalists for funds or to any other railroad organization for assistance.

Will Open Vast Region of Wealth.

This new Denver railroad enterprise will open to development and settlement a vast region of great fertility and mineral wealth in northwestern Colorado and northeastern Utah now without any railroad communication and practically unsettled, and, it is believed, will bring a tremendous increase in trade and growth to Denver.

As soon as coal shipments commence from Routt county it is expected that the Moffat road will become a paying enterprise. For the last two years the demand for fuel has been greater than the output and the Moffat road will have no difficulty in finding a market for all the coal it can handle.

The coal fields cover an area of 1,000 square miles. All kinds of coal are produced. The anthracite found in Routt county is as good as that found in the Pennsylvania coal fields. The bituminous and semi-bituminous are as good as any produced in this part of the country.

Cost Almost a Million a Mile.

The hardest construction work which will have to be done will be in Gloria canon. This canon is just west of Gore canon. Some parts of Egeria canon present as many engineering difficulties as Gore canon, where the road cost almost a million dollars a mile.

The construction work west of Egeria canon will be comparatively easy, and it will not cost a great deal to build the line from the coal fields to Steamboat Springs.

When the coal fields are reached by the railroad the actual opening of Routt county will commence. Dorsey Bros. of St. Louis have formed a company to build a railroad 25 miles in length from a connection with the Moffat road to the anthracite coal fields.

A syndicate of eastern capitalists is reported to have secured an option on the remaining unsold parts of the Steamboat Springs townsite and will establish one of the finest resorts in the country. There are 100 different kinds of mineral springs at Steamboat.

Mineral and Stock Raising.

Mining properties are being opened up in Routt county and large sums of money have been expended by syndicates in the purchase of ranches which are being converted into farms. Large herds of cattle are also being raised in Routt county.

The announcement that the Moffat road is to be extended to the Routt county coal fields is expected to accelerate the Mormon colonists who are to build the Utah end of the line. Heads of families and other members of the Mormon church are interested in the project. Mr. Moffat went to Salt Lake City during the summer to discuss the proposition with them.

WALKS INTO OFFICER'S ARMS

William Ishmael Comes to Court House as Witness and Is Arrested for Assault by Dayton.

After having waited around the court house all afternoon for Probation Officer William Reasoner in order to have himself sworn in as a witness, William Ishmael was confronted by Undersheriff George Dayton with a capias and placed under arrest on the charge of assault with intent to do bodily injury.

Ishmael was the complaining witness in a case against Henry Hohner, proprietor of the Little Gem saloon, Colorado city, and J. A. Doyle, his bartender, on the charge of selling liquor to an 18-year-old boy, Edward Campbell, of Rocky Ford. Probation Officer Reasoner was ignorant of the fact that the man was wanted by the sheriff.

Two months ago, Ishmael had been mixed up in a fight with one of the employes of the Little Gem saloon. While partially intoxicated, he had been ordered out of the saloon. He picked up a heavy iron cuspidor and hurled it at the employe, breaking three ribs. Then he threw a large bottle at the retreating man, at the same time making violent threats against his life. In the preliminary hearing he had been bound over to the district court and was let out on bonds. Information had just been filed in the district court by Assistant District Attorney O. E. Collins, and the sheriff's officers were looking for Ishmael when he walked into their arms.

Leap Year Proposal Backed by Revolver Results in Capture of a Husband.

Charles R. Frazier and Mrs. Maude Oliver of Colorado City, were married last Evening by Justice J. D. Faulkner in Colorado City.

This is the culmination of the gunplay last Monday morning which nearly resulted disastrously for Frazier and which caused the arrest of his wife on the charge of assault with intent to kill. The couple had been living together at 517½ Colorado avenue for the last two years as man and wife. When Frazier returned from a three days' absence Monday morning he was greeted by Mrs. Oliver with a gun and threats to shoot him unless he quit spending his time with other women. ## TOO MUCH THEORY financial, theories governmental, theories economic—we shall see the wreck of industry, the paralysis of effort, the destruction of the value of the investments of our savings, the taken possession of the entire body politic. To whom must we attribute this result? New and in the future to any man who, possessed of power, advocates violent and novel experiment with the existent adjustment of human relations an adjustment which has been the slow outgrowth of all experience and can only be modified carefully, slowly and judiciously.

Confidence Is Lost.

Our individual, personal burdens, our individual responsibilities, make us all timid. We fear inch rule. We fear that. We fear revolutionary methods. We fear the sudden application of new, untested, unthought-out ideas to the whole social fabric. Confidence is lost. Credit is destroyed. Uncertainty and dread reign and this most extraordinary of panics has followed as it would again from similar causes.

If you ask how credit shall be restored, I can give you but this negative answer. Not by a continuance of the possibility of the application to the whole of the country of still other new theories, nor by a continuance, at the will of our present rulers, or of any like him, of sporadic spectacular attacks, one following another, upon the various forms of invested savings.

THAW JURY AT LAST COMPLETE

actress, wanted as a witness for the defense in the trial of Harry K. Thaw, led to the serving of another subpoena on the young woman at the theater where she is playing last night. William Moore, from Attorney Peabody's office, made the service. Miss Goodrich and her mother received him on the stage, and the actress willingly accepted the papers and promised to be on hand whenever desired.

Justice Dowling announced this morning that the night sessions of the court would not be held after the jury is completed. When the taking of testimony begins, the court hours will be from 10 a. m. to 6 p. m., with an hour for luncheon.

The sixth panel of 100 talesmen was ordered today to come to court tomorrow morning. Justice Dowling accepted the prevailing opinion that the five jury vacancies existing when today's session began, would not be filled from the panel which reported this morning.

Absentees Came in.

Four absentees from yesterday's panel came in today, secured the remission of their fines and were examined for service. The last one of the four, William H. McHugh, a clerk, qualified as a temporary juror. McHugh had some question in his mind as to what should be considered a reasonable doubt in weighing the evidence. He concluded, however, that he would accept the court's ruling in the matter.

The prosecution's fifteenth peremptory challenge was directed against Clayton R. Olena, a clerk.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 10.—George A. Pettibone, recently acquitted at Boise of the murder of former Governor Steunenberg, has been in Los Angeles for the past two days, living here quietly with his wife. He will remain here until his health improves.

DAMAGING ADMISSIONS

PROSECUTION PLEASED WITH TESTIMONY OF WALSH.

His Plea of Not Guilty Is Regarded as Having Been Complicated. Retracts Nothing, However.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—With the conclusion this afternoon of the cross-examination of John R. Walsh, the continuing of testimony in the indictment case against the former bank president was practically completed. Arguments on the evidence will be begun Monday morning, Judge Anderson having announced that he would be engaged with other matters tomorrow and it is thought that the case will be given to the jury before the close of next week. Reaffirming and reiterating today that his first concern in all of the transactions between himself, his banks and his various enterprises had always been the welfare of the Chicago National bank, the defendant witness came through the ordeal of cross-examination without retracting a word of his initial declarations.

He made admissions which were regarded by the cross-examiner as complicating his plea of innocence, but he maintained to the last that the interests of his bank were always protected to the best of his judgment. One of the admissions forced from him by the searching interrogations of Assistant District Attorney Dolvins was that the mere signature of the importance of which had been emphasized by the prosecution, was not the record of loans to the persons whose names appeared on the notes.

On the other hand, he declared that the unsecured loans which the government had produced in evidence of alleged bad faith, were regarded by him as his personal liabilities to the bank even when advanced to others, and that in the event of his death his estate would have been held for their payment. He declared further that the investments of the Chicago National bank in the securities of the Walsh railroad were not made with the intention of making himself a railroad magnate, but for the purpose of making possible an advantageous sale of the properties, and thus avoiding losses that would otherwise have resulted.

The redirect examination by Attorney John S. Miller consisted of but few questions, and brought out no new feature, and no rebuttal testimony was offered.

origin, the firemen were driven to the windows only to find that the tops of the ladders had been burned, cutting off their only retreat. Three of the seven made a desperate effort to reach the roof. They were not seen again and are supposed to be dead in the ruins. The other four were rescued by men of hook and ladder company No. 7, who, at the risk of their own lives, ran up scaling ladders and dragged the more or less burned men from the windows. These men had barely reached the ground when the great masses of cement which formed a pillar of steel framework, gave way and crashed through to the ground, carrying with it everything below the seventh floor.

John Fallon, Tim Hutchinson and Sergeant Kelly went down in the wreckage. Fallon was not seen again. Hutchinson and Kelly, fighting desperately against the plaster and cement which threatened to bury them alive, managed to reach the street, though frightfully injured. Hutchinson was able only to say that his partner, Fallon, was in the debris when he collapsed and was removed in a dying condition. More than a score of firemen were working within the walls or near enough to be struck when they collapsed. Battalion Chief Shea was rendered unconscious by a blow on the head, and received a gash in the cheek. Deputy Chief Langford and Captains Weldon and Darvan were also removed to the temporary hospital. Meanwhile the fire practically had its own way, and the efforts of the firemen were successfully directed toward the saving of adjacent property.

The tenants of the building included the Brunswick-Balke-Collender company, Scherer company, Encyclopedia Britannica company, Fairchild and company, D. Cheith and company, P. F. Collier and Son, and the Judge Publishing company.

Further investigation proved the fire loss to be much greater than was at first thought possible. Fire Commissioner Lantry and Assistant Fire Chief Binns thought it might reach more than $6,000,000, though the general estimate was $4,000,000 less. A. M. Karagh and Son, dealers in antique rugs, possibly sustained the largest loss. Their loss is placed at $1,000,000. The Dittmar Woolen company is said to have lost nearly as much. The Judge Publishing company also suffered heavily, as did the branch office of Collier's weekly.

At a late hour an attempt to search the ruins for the dead was made, but those participating were driven back by the tottering walls that threatened to bury them.

Society of Equity Denounces Work of Lawless Men.

HENDERSON, Ky., Jan. 10.—The state meeting of the Society of Equity, in session here today, adopted resolutions declaring that the night riders are common criminals and the worst enemies of the association, and that the statement of Governor Wilson, or any one else, that the society is responsible, is without foundation. The resolution further declared that the society has the right to send sober and unarmed men, as the peace armies, by daylight, to plead with their neighbors for the interests of the society.

Government Ownership.

This and many other questions were volleyed at the secretary. He answered them with facility and good humor, which reflected itself in the [illegible] and questions. If workingmen were ready to work as hard for private individuals, why they would not be ready to work as hard for the government under federal ownership. The secretary replied without hesitation:

"Because human nature is not built along that line. It is not possible to carry on governments the same as business by individuals, working for private gain. You cannot change the motive of enlightened selfishness into altruism."

Secretary Taft indicated clearly that he did not think the time had come for an income tax law. He was accorded another ovation when he finished, and many in the audience flocked to the platform to shake him by the hand.

Mr. Taft said in his address:

"We are suffering now from a panic. It was brought on, in my judgment, by the exhaustion of free capital the world over by the lack of an elastic system of currency, and also by a lack of confidence in our business fabric, produced in Europe through the revelations in certain great corporations of business dishonesty, corruption and unlawfulness. It had been necessary for us to purify some of our business methods, but the purification cannot stop the panic. It will doubtless make another in the far future less likely. Meantime, all must suffer, both the honest and the guilty, and the innocent more than the guilty. Certainly the laborer, who is thrown out of his employment in the hard times, is innocent and suffers more than the capitalist, whether innocent or guilty, who has money to live on meantime. Still prosperity shall be restored.

Discussing the difficulties in peaceful adjustment of controversies between capital and labor, Mr. Taft commended the work of such organizations as the Civic Federation in seeking to bring together capitalist and labor leaders, and expressed the hope that the cause of this friendly contact between employers and labor leaders, labor unions may be induced to assist the cause of honest industry to improve the quality, industry, skill and fidelity to the employer's interests of the employes.

On the subject of arbitration, Mr. Taft argued for the adjustment of labor difficulties by submission to an impartial tribunal, and agree to abide by its judgment, and in this connection commended the "Massachusetts plan."

This method, he declared, had practically been adopted by President Roosevelt, and had shown substantial and practical results. "That is a provision of law by which an impartial tribunal shall investigate all the conditions surrounding the dispute, take sworn evidence, draft a [illegible] in respect to the merits of the case and publish it to the world."

Unions Have Right to Strike.

On the question of the legal right of the labor union to strike, Secretary Taft said:

"Men have the right to leave the employ of their employer in a body in order to impose on him as a great inconvenience as possible to induce him to come to their terms. They have the right in their labor unions to delegate to their leaders the power to say when to strike. They have the right in advance to accumulate by contributions from all members of all labor unions a fund which shall enable them to live during the pending strike. They have the right to use persuasion with all other laborers who are invited to take their places in order to continue them in the advantage to labor of united action. It is the business of courts and of the police to respect these rights with the same degree of care that they respect the rights of owners of capital to the protection of their property and business.

He added, however, that "a resort to violence, or other form of lawlessness, on behalf of a labor union, properly merits and receives the sharpest condemnation from the public, and is quite likely to lose the cause of labor its support in the particular controversy.

The "abuse of capital combinations," industrial and railroad—were discussed at length, and the relation of wage earners thereto pointed out.

Unlawful Monopoly.

"The maintenance of such unlawful monopoly" said Mr. Taft, "is for the purpose of keeping up the prices of the necessities of life, and this necessarily reduces the purchasing power of the wages which the wage earners receive. This is a serious detriment to them and a real reason why they should condemn such corporate abuses and sympathize with an effort to stamp them out. It is not that they should sympathize with an effort to destroy the great corporate enterprises, because they employ enormous numbers of wage earners and lawfully and normally increase the capital from which the wage fund is drawn, but they should and do vigorously sustain the policy of the government in bringing these great corporations within the law and requiring them to conduct their business in accordance with the statutes of the country.

"In rare instances, corporate managers have entered into a course of violence to maintain their side of a labor controversy. They have justified it on the ground that they were simply fighting fire with fire, and that if the labor unions proceeded to use dynamite they would use dynamite in return. I cannot too strongly condemn this course of argument. No amount of lawlessness on the part of the labor striker will justify the lawlessness on the part of the employers. Such a course means a recurrence of civil war and anarchy.

"A second abuse which employers are sometimes guilty of is what is technically known as 'blacklisting.' This is unlawful and should be condemned."

Mr. Taft condemned the "abuses of labor" such as violence, intimidation and the boycott, and pointed out the legal remedy by which a person may be protected against the illegal acts of combinations of capital and combinations of labor.

"In cases of unlawful combinations of capital, as well as of such combinations of labor," he said, "the method in equity, by securing an injunction, seems to be preferred by those who are about to be injured."

He defended the injunction against the criticism that it places legislation, judicial and executive power in the hands of a judge and declared that "prevention is better than cure." He granted the contention, he said, that the injunction had been abused in labor disputes, and favored amendment of the law to provide that no temporary restraining order shall issue until after notice and a hearing; also requiring a different judge in contempt proceedings from the judge issuing the injunction.

"There is a class of capitalists who look upon the labor unions as per se vicious and a class of radical labor unionists who look upon capital as labor's natural enemy," declared Mr. Taft in closing. "I believe, however, that the great majority of each class are gradually becoming more conciliatory in their attitude, the one toward the other. Between them is a larger class, neither capitalist nor labor unionist, who are without prejudices, and I hope I am one of these. The effects of the panic are not over. We must expect industrial depression. This may be fruitful of labor controversy. I earnestly hope that a more conservative and conciliatory attitude on both sides may avoid the destructive struggles of the past."

USE FOUND FOR REVENUE OF CONGO FREE STATE.

Government Issues Its Reply to Recommendations of Congo Commission.

BRUSSELS, Jan. 10.—The government has issued its reply to the recommendations made by the Congo commission. It declares that King Leopold does not desire any personal profit from the donations reserved under the treaty, which amount now to $1,500,000 a year and are expected later to grow to $5,000,000 a year.

Continuing, the reply sets forth various philanthropic methods in which the revenue of the Congo Independent state is to be expended. The income will be consecrated to philanthropic, educational and hospital work, Catholic missions and for civilization, such as an effort to find a cure for the sleeping sickness. The statement, among other things, makes it clear that concessionary companies will be amenable to the laws of the Congo and not to Belgian laws.

A feature of the reply is a statement of the remarkable mineral wealth of the Katanga district. No less than 18 copper and malachite mines have been discovered in this territory and there are 2,000,000 tons of copper ore in sight.

While the document admits that taxes in the Congo have been raised in kind, it denies that the system of forced labor is now in existence.

In conclusion, it is declared that if the treaty is not ratified, King Leopold will resume his former status in the Congo Independent state.

The reply of the government to the Congo commission has produced an unfavorable impression. It is understood that M. Renkin accepted the presidentship under the belief that Leopold would make [illegible] concessions than he may [illegible]

KANSAS WANTS GAMES

BASEBALL TEAM PLANNING COLORADO INVASION.

College Tigers Considering Jayhawkers' Proposition and May Accept Dates in April.

Special to The Gazette.

LAWRENCE, Kan., Jan. 10.—The University of Kansas has begun negotiations with Colorado College, the University of Colorado, the Colorado School of Mines and the Colorado Agricultural college for a series of baseball games to be played in Colorado the week ending April 18.

Manager Langsdon has already written to each of these schools and hopes that the trip can be arranged. The Jayhawkers have prospects for a strong nine this spring.

While no arrangements have thus far been made, and while Manager G. W. Smith announced last night that negotiations had not reached a definite stage as yet, it is considered probable that Colorado College will be willing to arrange for the games with the Kansans, provided all of the other Colorado teams come in on the Jayhawkers' schedule. The Miners have announced their willingness.

It has been three years since the Kansas baseball nine made a tour of Colorado. On that occasion it played two games on Washburn field, being victorious by small scores. With the prospects for a strong Tiger team, it is thought that the locals will give the easterners a hard fight.

PLAN DEMONSTRATIONS

crowd, which was dispersed in two minutes.

Police Block Movement.

A large number of the demonstrators then marched to the office of the Vorwaerts to procure copies of extra editions of the newspaper, with the intention to assemble later in front of the Schloss and resume the demonstrations. Few of them, however, arrived there. The police everywhere blocked the approaches to the imperial residence. Large crowds had collected in the square facing it, however, and were not disturbed by the police.

The waited in vain in the cold weather for the demonstrators to come. In the square were numerous unemployed men, of whom it is estimated there are at present no less than 50,000 in Berlin.

It is not believed that the demonstration will have any political results whatever. It was wholly a Socialist affair, being without the support of the other sections of the population. The Radicals form the only other party unequivocally favoring universal suffrage, but there is no prospect whatever of their co-operation with the Socialists for a common action looking toward electoral reform, the Socialists having shown sharply a repellant attitude toward the Radicals and showered them with ridicule as being false to their principles and disgraced through their alliance with the government.

Suffrage Not Good for State.

Various speeches were made in the landtag on the question at issue, but at the close of the session, Prince Von Buelow, the imperial chancellor, declared that manhood suffrage, as it exists for the reichstag, would not be for the good of the state, and secret voting would not be permitted in Prussia.

He admitted that the suffrage system required reform and that the government had been studying the question for a long time. Exactly what direction the reform would take he did not know, but as soon as the government proposition was ready it would be communicated to the landtag. The chancellor declared he did not expect it would be presented at this session. He said that the street demonstrations had not made the slightest impression upon the government, and that the government had not changed one hair's breadth its decision to carry through what it thought to be right.

Prince Von Buelow's sharp words fully reflect the government's contempt for the Socialist Democrats.

lower estimate, which warrants them in placing the estimated cost at nearer $200,000,000 than a higher figure.

Various reasons are assigned for the increased cost, including wider and longer locks than those proposed by the board of engineers, a greater quantity of excavations than that estimated by the board, an increase in unit prices and higher prices for labor than those thought adequate by the board. The board estimated that the locks would cost less than $40,000,000, while the present commission thinks it will be between $52,000,000 and $60,000,000, with a still greater increase of 10 percent, if the locks are further widened as proposed by the navy department.

BAVARI IS BELIEVED GUILTY

Finding of Charred Portions of Human Bones in Nearby Cabin Adds to Evidence.

FLORENCE, Colo., Jan. 10.—The finding of charred portions of human bones today in a cabin adjoining that in which he lived [illegible] to the chain of evidence being forged by the police against Anton Bavari, the Italian charged with murdering Joseph Minichello, and suspected of having foully dealt with two other fellow countrymen with whom he was enamored, all of whom have disappeared within the last month.

Mrs. Joseph Minichello, who swore to the complaint against Bavari, today told the police of a quarrel her husband had with Bavari on the night of the former's disappearance, [illegible] stating her belief with the statement:

"I believe Tony Bavari killed my husband on that night." She said that the following day Bavari asked her if her husband had not returned away during the night and expressed the belief that he had left her to return to Italy.

OLD TIME BOOSTER IN CITY

D. C. MacWatters on Visit to Springs Is Still Busy Advertising Resources of West.

D. C. MacWatters, former general passenger agent of the Short Line, is spending a few days in the city on his return from a month's trip to Milford, Utah, where he is now located as general superintendent of the Great Falls North Side Land and Water company and general manager of the Great Shoshone and Twin Falls North Side Land and Water company, and general manager of the Great Shoshone and Twin Falls Water Power company.

MacWatters is now just in contract [illegible] to be for the mutual advantages of the Short Line and for the city of Sunshine. The projects in which he is interested are booming.

The land controlled by the Twin Falls company is along the Snake river in

D. C. MACWATTERS.

Formerly Passenger Agent of Short Line, on Visit to Springs.

Idaho, near Nevada. On the south side of the river, 180,000 acres of land have been opened up and within the past one-half years have attracted a population of 15,000 people. On the south side of the river, the company controls 210,000 acres as a part of the same system. At the last opening, on October 1, all records for opening a registration were shattered, more than 10,000 acres being entered in one day. An electric line is being built through the district, and it is ultimately intended to tap the Nevada markets.

"Irrigation means great things for the West," said Mr. MacWatters, "not only in Idaho, but in Colorado and all other of the semi-arid states where it is practicable. It will bring great results. Eastern farmers are flocking westward as rapidly as they come to realize the fact that better and bigger crops can be raised on irrigated lands than upon those where they are dependant upon rains. Irrigation is to be a great factor in the development of the region."

KANSAS CLUB TO BANQUET

Delegation From Springs Will Attend Dinner in Denver.

Colorado Springs citizens will play a prominent part in the banquet of the Kansas club, to be held at the Albany hotel in Denver on the evening of January 29, in celebration of the admission of Kansas to the union. Among the members of the club are Mayor and Mrs. D. N. Heizer, Mrs. Florence M. Stutz, superintendent of schools of El Paso county, Judge J. W. Shearer, Judge W. S. Morris, and a large number of others. Arrangements are now being made for a special car to take the local delegation to the Denver banquet.

Hon. Bailey P. Wangelin, state senator and general attorney for the Good Fuss, will be the guest of honor and will make the principal address of the meeting. Covers will be laid for 250. An order has been placed with a Kansas florist for 125 fans, 12 inches in diameter, representing the sunflower.

Miss Celia Tunis returned yesterday. William Grimes, father of Sheriff O. P. Grimes and of Mrs. James A. Orr, is seriously ill with pneumonia.

A Nurse's Story

If you are a sufferer from headache, neuralgia, or pain from any cause you should read the following letter from a nurse.

"For something I have felt it my duty to write you. I was having my doctor twice every week for headache. All he did for me was to give something to ease the pain. Sometimes the pain was so severe that I could not speak, and members of my family stood over me and gave me medicine every 'Five minutes until I was relieved. A sample of Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills fell into my hands. I read the circular very carefully and found my case described exactly. The next time my head began to ache I took the Pain Pills according to directions and I felt I was getting better, so I went to the druggist for a box and took them until I was so much better that I was about the house all the afternoon. I have not had a doctor for headache since. When he met me sometime after he wanted to know how I was, and I told him what I had done, and he replied: 'If you have found anything that will help you, stick to it,' and so I have. Being a nurse I have recommended them to a number of many grateful people. One case I will mention. I saw a doctor go to a neighbor every week for months to cure her husband's eyes, and he could not give anything to cure her. One day I met her and I gave her a half a box of Anti-Pain Pills and she used them and has had no water since. She says they are a great blessing to her and said, 'Why didn't you tell me about them?' I will tell you of them.

What the Press Agents Say

MARIE CAHILL IN "MARRYING MARY."

In the words of the Rialto, Marie Cahill and "Marrying Mary" are already "over the plate" and are in for a record-breaking business at the Opera House this evening. The process of unseaming follows: It "Marrying Mary" is a better musical play than "Molly Moonshine," the business of the former will surpass that of the latter, which broke all records in Cowles for New York, Philadelphia and Boston have already agreed that not only is "Marrying Mary" better than "Molly Moonshine" for that it is the best musical comedy of the "show" type ever produced, therefore, all Marie Cahill has to do is to count the money.

Edwin Milton Royle wrote the new play, and the music is by Silvio Hein, the lyrics by Benjamin Hapgood Burt. Owing to past honorable dealings, the assurance of Manager Daniel V. Arthur that the original cast and production will be here, is accepted as truth. This insures us the great singing of Eugene Cowles.

Clever as Miss Cahill's musical comedies, "Nancy Brown" and "Molly Moonshine," were found, her present vehicle is said to be even more entertaining and its reception at Daly's theater, New York, recalled the good old Augustin Daly days, when "The Geisha" and "The Runaway Girl" were the biggest musical comedy hits New York had ever seen. As usual Miss Cahill brings with her the original New York cast and the famous "long skirted" chorus. Among the players will be Eugene Cowles.

"UNDER SOUTHERN SKIES."

The appearance of Little Ruth Tucker's delightful play, "Under Southern Skies" is an event that should be looked forward to with interest by our theatergoers.

The company is a large one, numbering 23 people. The scenery is beautiful, everything used in the representation being carried by the company. The costuming is quaint and pretty, the gowns being of airy summery stuffs, made in the fashion of 1830, which is the period of the play. A Halloween celebration during which a pumpkin dance is introduced, is one of the lively features of the performance and never fails to delight an audience. Beautiful southern melodies are introduced throughout the play with great effect. The story of the play is both strong and interesting, and is relieved with much comedy which is contributed by the darky servants and by their masters and mistresses, who are of the southern aristocracy.

"Under Southern Skies" is one of the big successes of recent years and no one who enjoys a first class play, presented in a first class manner, should fail to see "Under Southern Skies" at the Opera House on Monday evening.

"THE COLLEGE WIDOW."

You may renew your youth and incidentally have a good, gay laugh, if you go to see "The College Widow," which is the fresh, [illegible] ing her roles in these parts. George Ade's latest and most of that magic exhilarant with humor as ever, will be seen at the Opera House next Tuesday, Seats now on sale.

Mr. Ade's play is like a bracing tonic in its effect on tired brains and starved nerves, but, unlike the tonic and remedies, it is a decidedly pleasant to take. It has the effect of recalling pleasant memories of the time when all the world was young, enthusiasm was a daily blessing, and football, or other college sports, of far greater importance than the conditions of the national treasury, and, while it reveals nothing higher in literary or artistic achievement than does American humor and cleverness in drawing character types, the complete satisfaction of the observer is assured.

As a student Mr. Ade's observation must have been extremely keen, for writing that would lend itself to effective dramatic treatment has been lost, Chauncey Talbot, the effeminate and timid post-graduate and tutor finds that he has made a great mistake in specializing in science instead of football.

ROOSEVELT AND SOME OTHERS.

The Denver Telegraph last Sunday printed a long and interesting leading editorial headed "For Again the Administration," which we take pleasure in reprinting elsewhere in this issue. It contains the first plain evidence to date that that paper will stand during the coming political campaign and party by because it affects to [illegible] some further observations as to the [illegible] actions of the President. But before going further it may be well in the interests of accuracy to reprint in full the editorial paragraph from last Wednesday's issue of The Telegraph referred to:

> It may be entirely fair at the time to examine thoroughly and understand all the particulars of such incidents as have led President Roosevelt and Governor Hagerman of New Mexico and the more recent one between President and Rear Admiral Brownson, but we hope for Roosevelt's popularity would be lost as he is sure to be in August.

On the question of the judgment expressed in the last paragraph there is nothing at all credit able to the President in his treatment of Rear Admiral Brownson, an officer who has served his country with distinction since a time when Mr. Roosevelt was a toddler in short dresses. The question at issue differs from those of Admiral Brownson does not arise in this discussion. The thing we are concerned with is the way he acted after Brownson had resigned. He published a letter in which he declared hotly that the officer's resignation was "not in reality childish but in the highest degree reprehensible," and he made with it a [illegible] the press of the country generally hold to the opinion that it was Mr. Roosevelt and not Admiral Brownson who whose action was childish and reprehensible. Brownson's dignified silence, his attitude as a man who is quite to be judged by his record and his action without a temper, is strengthen his own case by abusing the other fellow.

Put all this familiar history, the case of former Governor Hagerman in reference. The President appointed Hagerman Governor of New Mexico on the express purpose of loaning out one of the most disreputable political machines in the country in organized in which had improved its opportunities until things had reached a point where honest or decent government could not exist in the same atmosphere. Mr. Hagerman accepted the office with the distinct understanding that he was to receive the full support of the President. It would indeed it would have been the height of absurdity if he had accepted it under any other condition, for under the territorial system of government the Governor is powerless unless he can retain the powerful backing of the White House. Hagerman had a good [illegible].

In the preliminary rounds of the contest with the machine [illegible] the President encouraged his Governor. Roosevelt was delighted with the gang for the direct struggle. Everybody in New Mexico knew that if Roosevelt stood by him it meant a [illegible] corrupt gang rule. Nobody knew this better than the gangsters themselves, and as a last effort the envoys of powerful supporters in Washington who represented to the President that unless he immediately called Hagerman off the trail the Republican party of New Mexico would be disorganized and overthrown. That settled it so far as Mr. Roosevelt was concerned. He withdrew his support from Hagerman who of course immediately resigned. It was a clear case of "throwing down" a breach of faith which can not be excused on the ground of expediency nor explained away by the invisible $2,000 word statement from the White House which follows such incidents. We said as much at the time and nothing has occurred since to change our opinion.

If what leading these opinions is "taking a stand in opposition to the policies of President Roosevelt" The Telegraph is perfectly welcome to think so, and so is anybody else who hasn't sufficient [illegible] to know the difference between criticism of actions and [illegible] of actions which [illegible] in the highest degree in novice matters [illegible]. So far as Mr. Roosevelt's policies are [illegible], we [illegible] them heartily, and have said so without any bar. In our feeble way we have [illegible] his efforts to remedy corporate [illegible]. We have felt at times that his methods [illegible] a little precipitate; that the same [illegible] might be attained with a little less furor—[illegible] we believe that most other people now are [illegible] this point [illegible] in harmony with the vital [illegible] of bringing about the reforms he seeks.

The Colorado Roosevelt paper [illegible] in the [illegible] that it supports the [illegible] Administration, but this [illegible] even when [illegible] a third-termer. We have opposed the third-term idea from its beginning, and the thing has reached a stage now where it is quite clear that whoever still seriously contends that Mr. Roosevelt should again be a candidate is simply looking for a little chump [illegible] from the Federal pie-counter.

For the Telegraph to attempt to construe any remark of ours, considered in connection with the supposed activity of the Fairley-Brooks machine, as "the initial step looking toward the election of an anti-Roosevelt delegation to the national convention" is the veriest drivel. We are not in the slightest degree interested in Mr. Brooks' alleged efforts in behalf of Vice-President Fairbanks nor is anybody else that we know of for there is no reason to suppose that such efforts were ever made. The Fairbanks candidacy started out as a joke, but now it is not even that. It would be a hard matter to classify it in definite terms.

Neither are we at all interested in what any of the signers of Mr. Brooks' letter think of the President. The letter concerned us only insofar as it set forth clearly and succinctly the reasons why Mr. Brooks is a fit man to be chosen as the next Senator from Colorado—reasons which we fully indorse. And it will be the duty of the voters to pay due heed to these matters in making up their mind as to the sort of a Representative they desire to have in the Senate Chamber in Washington.

SEEKING FOR HEALTH-SEEKERS.

DR. A. F. M'KAY who has been carrying on a campaign of education among Eastern physicians for several months to acquaint them with the advantages of Colorado Springs as a health resort contributes a letter to the Open Parliament today that deserves careful consideration. It will be remembered that a fund was raised by subscription to pay the cost of his advertising trip and the work is now being carried on in a way that indicates future results which will return a large profit on the investment.

The advertising of a resort city if it is to be effective must be kept up persistently. It will never do to assume that the public knows all about Colorado Springs and will come here to health or pleasure whether or not. One might suppose that physicians all over the country would know merely because they are physicians that this is the best place to send tuberculous patients. Some of them do, but most of them do not. But when the results attained in thousands of cases it is different. Similarly most of them have an idea that because Colorado Springs is visited by so many tuberculous people it must be a bad place for healthy people or for those suffering from other ailments.

The best way to correct the false impression is by personal visitation as Dr. McKay is now doing and it would be well if several canvassers could be kept constantly traveling about the country carrying on the same work.

AN AWFUL POSSIBILITY

From the Charleston News and Courier.

Should the candidates be Fairbanks and Bryan, the New York Sun will have the greatest word eating campaign that it has ever enjoyed.

BRYAN'S OPPORTUNITY

From the Louisville Courier Journal.

What a really great man Mr. Bryan might become if he would only let the bee light on some other hornet and go in for things possible and practicable.

PUBLIC WEATHER INDICATIONS

From the New York Tribune.

The plan of Prof. Willis L. Moore, chief of the United States weather bureau, for publishing government weather predictions is worthy of cordial commendation and will doubtless win a hearty endorsement. The circulation of daily weather maps, reports and forecasts is and will remain the most valuable part of the bureau's work, and it may be said in passing that its value is infinitely greater than many persons think. But there are other services which the bureau may perform well, worth the comparatively trifling cost which they will involve, and among these is that now proposed of supplying the public in important centers of population with accurate information concerning current meteorological conditions such as temperature, humidity and barometrical pressure.

COLORADO SPRINGS' OPPORTUNITY

To the Editor of The Gazette:

It has been said that opportunity strikes at every man's door at least once. As with men so with communities and opportunity is now striking at Colorado Springs' door—the opportunity for becoming the most popular general winter health resort of the interior regions of our country.

During the past three months it has been my privilege, as well as pleasure, owing to the almost universally kind reception of my message to talk with approximately 1,000 physicians regarding the advantages of Colorado Springs as a general winter health resort. Of these possibly 10 per cent have had something of an adequate knowledge of the average conditions prevailing here during the winter, but to many, I may say almost all of this 10 per cent, the exact figures presented regarding temperature and precipitation prove a surprise, the prevailing idea being that Colorado Springs enjoys a dry sunny but cold and snowy winter. The other 90 per cent flatly refuse to make any definite knowledge of Colorado Springs except the impression that it has been a dumping ground of the profession for consumptives.

The business which has gone to Colorado Springs through the medical profession has been almost entirely through the influence of a small percentage of the 10 per cent above mentioned, and it is a safe statement that at least 50 per cent of the physicians I have met, who have sent patients to Colorado Springs, have done so because of the personal work done by Dr. Solly from 10 to 15 years ago.

Colorado Springs' opportunity does not lie in the possibility of inducing more physicians to send their consumptive patients there, for the prevailing opinion of eastern physicians is that the vast majority of their patients of that class can be treated just as successfully nearer home and the facilities for such treatment in sanitariums are being established by every eastern state and municipality. Where Colorado Springs will eventually profit by this, will be in the fact that the true incipient cases discovered will be sent there to be cured, as Colorado Springs, where, as everyone acknowledges, climate of the [illegible] in that stage is almost [illegible]. [illegible] if prize in the society of a humane but rigid supervision of the consumptives who do come to her, by all rule than ever of the very early stage cases and less of those advanced cases which present the appearance of invalidism. It is possible for her to attract to her a very large number of semi invalids of other than the tuberculous class, and of people who merely desire to get out of the rigors of an eastern and middle west winter for two or three months.

After a full discussion of the conditions existing I have put the question squarely to a large number of physicians. Whether, in their opinion, if relieved of the stigma of being purely a consumptive resort and if such regulations as would insure reasonable safety to tuberculous invalids they would consider it possible for Colorado Springs to attract invalids and others as a general sanitarium. The answer has been almost without exception emphatically. Only of course expressed in varying language, but with the method now being used of carrying the detailed information direct to the profession there could be no doubt of the ultimate success of the effort to attract other than consumptives for the reason that in so many cases of patients [illegible] improved [illegible] and the patients returned in the early spring totally unfitted to withstand the cold they still had to contend with here, which with the bracing of a climate like that of Colorado Springs would tend to energize and build up the resisting powers of the system. It is conceded by all that in the matter of such auxiliaries which form essential in a favorable climate for first class accommodations and means of entertainment Colorado Springs possesses the requisite of a successful resort city to a greater degree than any other interior city of their knowledge.

Knowing as I do the sentiment of a large element of our citizens, I realize that what the city needs is a [illegible] roll or in other words an addition to her laboring class, it may not be out of place in this discussion of her opportunities to [illegible] comparisons. I will assume that any industry or industries which would furnish employment to say 1,000 employes, would involve the investment of at least $1,000,000—a very conservative estimate I think. One thousand men if employed constantly which could hardly be hoped for would yield at an average wage of $2.50 per day (a very liberal estimate) $65,000 per month or in round numbers $750,000 per annum, to which I will add a profit of 25 per cent on the capital invested or $250,000, making a grand total of $1,000,000 distributed in the community.

Should any responsible company promise Colorado Springs a factory or other enterprise to employ 1,000 men and ask for a $50,000 cash bonus it would be raised in 24 hours if necessary.

Let us consider for a moment what a per cent of $1,000,000 or $50,000 which would be given as a bonus might be made to do in publicity of the plant which Colorado Springs has already for utilizing her most valuable resource. If $50,000 were raised for this purpose $6,000 would cover all expense for litigation and administration, leaving $44,000 to employ 20 or 30 efficient physicians for six months to personally [illegible] from Colorado Springs to the medical profession in all sections of the United States, likely to furnish with business. Twenty to thirty representatives could effectively present the subject to physicians in six months.

If one in 10 of every 10 physicians sent one patient a year (which stay would average one year in value average) it would mean an addition of 3,000 patients to invalids who will arrange at least one friend or relative with them and [illegible] families as permanent residents.

For a fair conservativeness we will estimate the average valid winter tourist as expending the sum of $10 per week which multiplied by 3,000 (making no allowance for friends) would produce $4,000,000 [illegible] roll.

A payroll of 1,000 families means [illegible] business [illegible] expense in every [illegible]. Three thousand invalids and tourists would [illegible] little expenditures along those lines [illegible] permanent resident.

The factory or factories when once supplied with labor add nothing to population after that which from an average of 3,000 people sent to Colorado Springs [illegible] that at least [illegible] permanent residents.

A [illegible] average population of the village in Colorado Springs today [illegible] physicians [illegible] begin to [illegible] them 15 years ago as the result of personal work done by Dr. Solly and other of the older physicians.

With 30,000 physicians personally informed and convinced as were physicians by Dr. Solly [illegible] Springs would have to build [illegible] boarding houses and sanitariums as have grown in his history.

While I have used the figures stated simply as a basis of comparison I do not [illegible] the annual [illegible] raising as large a fund as $50,000 for the first year's work. I believe that a campaign of publication would [illegible] facilities for [illegible] people who would [illegible] that number of [illegible] plans with the [illegible] year.

That I am not [illegible] I am sure [illegible] Thomas who will [illegible] and hear the expressions of appreciation from the physicians of the information which I leave with them. One yesterday I apologized for taking so much of his valuable time said I was [illegible] for the obligation he had put on my side for the valuable information I have given him. I told him what I now know in past years I should have been saved some very humiliating mistakes. Three physicians in one day's calls wanted the [illegible] at once to show patients who were undecided because they [illegible] physicians were undecided where to go and all three of these invalids expect to become permanent residents in the place they go if it proves beneficial and no one is disappointed and he [illegible] the earliest stage recognizable.

Two very strong influences have conspired against work having produced more marked results up to this time [illegible] the intense financial stringency in the east which has practically checked the winter tourist business in all directions and the beautiful weather which has and yet prevails in New York and New England to which section my work has so far been confined rendering it necessary for invalids to leave the east to avoid either snow or cold, for so far there has been neither to contend with.

The question under consideration is one upon which much more might be written, but perhaps enough has been already said to arouse a more lively interest upon the part of the citizens of Colorado Springs in grasping the opportunity open to her to become the most popular and best-known winter health resort in our country.

FOR OR AGAINST THE ADMINISTRATION

From the Colorado Springs Evening Telegraph, Jan. 10.

From a somewhat inconspicuous but perfectly plain editorial in The Gazette on Wednesday it would appear that that paper had thrown off all disguise and had taken its stand in opposition to the policies of President Roosevelt:

> In speaking of some minor matters connected with his administration it closes by saying that if the people only knew the President thoroughly the WONDERFUL ROOSEVELT POPULARITY WOULDN'T LAST AS LONG AS A SNOWBALL IN AUGUST. Coming on the heels of the announcement of Mr. Brooks' candidacy for the Senate this question naturally arises as to what or the present activity of the Fairley-Brooks machine in this county is not the initial step looking toward the election of an anti-Roosevelt delegation to the national convention.
> It will be remembered when Vice President Fairbanks visited this state a few months ago Mr. Brooks acted in the capacity of guide, counselor and friend. He met Mr. Fairbanks almost as soon as he entered the state of Colorado, was by his side in every address that he made and was possibly the last person to bid him a fond farewell as he left the confines of Colorado.
> Most persons know at least all interested in politics are aware that the candidacy of Mr. Fairbanks represents active opposition to the policies of the Roosevelt administration. The Hon. Sir statesman is being backed by those who believe that the President pulls some [illegible] they wanted. The activity of Mr. Brooks therefore in connection with Mr. Fairbanks' visit may properly be considered as corroborating the will of the Taft system. If that Mr. Brooks is the head and front of Mr. Fairbanks' movement is doubtful.
> And again consider the attitude of some of the active adherents and supporters of the Brooks candidacy. Having the ear of those who sign Mr. Brooks' letter saying that he make the race was one well known fellow citizen, General W. J. Palmer. It is established fact that General Palmer is entirely out of sympathy with the Roosevelt policies and administration and that he is quite willing that his disapproval be known. As an active supporter of Mr. Brooks therefore it must be apparent that he said that Mr. Brooks is not Roosevelt man at heart, even though he may appear be outwardly he is one of a few stalwarts showing a way to wind his way and illustrating by his actions the attitude of Mr. Brooks and his supporters with respect to the Roosevelt policies. It will be the duty of the voters to pay due heed to these matters in making up their minds as to the sort of a representative they desire in the Senate chamber in Washington.
> It is also interesting to note that last Saturday's Washington Post in giving a tabulation of the states and their prominent Republican lineup put down Colorado with its solid votes to Fairbanks. From what source does the Post get its information?

What means this wild fierce yearning
In my soul
This sense of unending doubts and fears
What is the thing that so eludes
My grasp
Hard as I seek it with its claim my whole
Being
To find it and leaves me—tired and

BUILT NEST WITH CASH

From the New York World.

Ernest Thompson Seton has written about animals who obey some of the Ten Commandments. Thou shalt not steal is unknown to the colony of red squirrels which occupies the attic of Charles Edmunds's farmhouse near Hanover, N. J. The squirrels got into the attic from the trees that brush the eaves and through a knothole in a weatherboard.

The money stringency alarmed Edmunds a few weeks ago and he drew $80 $20 bills from a Newark bank. He put the money in a small pasteboard box and without telling his wife and daughter hid the box on the plates under the rafters of the attic. Becoming convinced that the financial crisis has passed Edmunds went for the money yesterday to put it back in bank.

He found only small fragments of the banknotes and the box. The squirrels had gnawed them to pieces to build a nest, of course. Edmunds cannot find the nest and he is almost mad enough to demolish the house to wreak vengeance on the squirrels. He vowed yesterday that he will try to kill every squirrel he sees.

SHE WASN'T WORRIED

From the New York Evening Post.

One woman took the run on her bank tranquilly. She was a landlady whose chief item of expense was the monthly sum she had to pay for the rent of the house out of which she made her living.

"Let the bank shut down," she remarked. She told that it was in difficulties. "If it does my landlord can't ask me for the rent—he's the bank [illegible] it."

Proprietor of Saloon Returned in Time to Surprise Marauders

Ralph Suggs has been arrested for attempting to burglarize the saloon of Louis Stine, a wholesale liquor dealer in this city. Warrant is also out for the arrest of Leo Woods who is said to have been connected with Suggs in the theft. Stine stepped out of the front door of the saloon Thursday evening and the two men entered from the rear. Stine returned unexpectedly and caught the men before they had time to steal anything. The men ran through the alley but Stine recognized the man now under arrest by the light of the lamp.

Clouds Came Two Days After Bertha I. Arlington Became a Bride. Now Wants Divorce.

Only two days after the wedding ceremony, her husband began practicing cruelties which have finally resulted in the filing of a divorce suit in the district court in this city. This is the allegation of Mrs. Bertha I. Arlington in her complaint which recites that she was married to Oakland, Cal., on May 27, 1907, to Robert E. Arlington. A few days later, Arlington came home intoxicated and informed his bride according to her story that he no longer loved her, calling her vile names and threatening to pack his trunk and leave. He repeated these actions on July 17 and 28, and in addition to abusing her in many ways, accused her of being unfaithful, threw different things at her and threatened to throw her and her effects out of the house. This was the limit of her endurance, says Mrs. Arlington, and so she returned to her home in this city.

STELLA LOSES ON A "FOUL"

Because the Professor Made a Mistake Another Spelling Contest Will Be Held.

Just Because Prof. H. A. Keeley, principal of the Manitou High school, pronounced the word "dramatist" with a long Italian "a" at the spelling bee in the First Methodist church last Thursday night, all the members of class B in the Anticigarette League contest will be required to spell over again to determine who shall have first prize.

All the children stood in a row anxious to spell one another down. One by one they sat down in defeat after grappling with the big words, until there remained standing only Stella Woods of the Bristel school, and Margaret McIntosh of the Columbia school. Professor Keeley called out the word, "dramatist," but it sounded something like "draw-maw-tist," because he pronounced the "a" as it sounds in the word "awe."

Stella Wood had the first chance at the word, and, following the pronunciation of the official, she spelled it "dr-a-m-a-t-i-s-t."

Of course the judges decided that she had spelled the word incorrectly, and the audience began to cheer Margaret McIntosh, who followed the rules of orthography and the authority of the dictionary instead of the orthoepy of the pronouncer.

But at this juncture, the judges were thrown into a state of perplexity. Clearly, Stella Wood had observed the rules in spelling the word according to the manner in which it was pronounced to her, and the error was not all hers. On the other hand, Margaret McIntosh, waiving rules, had spelled the word correctly.

After consulting the official spelling book, the committee and the judges discovered that according to that authority the word "dramatist" is correctly pronounced with a short "a."

Upon consideration, the majority ruled that the only way out of the difficulty is to hold the class B contest over again, and this will be done in the High School some time next week.

A BURDEN ON COUNTY

Desertions of Families by Husbands Cost Public $6,376.24.

According to the annual report of the county commissioners on the care of the poor, $8,651.26 was spent in the maintenance of the poor farm in 1907, while improvements cost $1,000. Farm produce brought in $1,316.00. There are 30 inmates at the present time, the average for the year having been 36.5. Because of desertions on the part of the husband, 101 families were given aid by the county at a cost of $6,376.24.

The report states that the chief cause of the county's being compelled to aid the poor is the fact that so many are sent here from points outside the state. They recommend that a year's residence be required before a poor person can make the county responsible for their maintenance.

CONSPIRACY TO ROB GIRL OF VALUABLE DOCUMENTS.

Strangers Offer Nurse Large Sums to Divulge Secret of Her Alleged Diamond Mines in Africa.

Tempting her with a fortune of $7,000 to break a death-bed promise, to lure from her a secret that she has guarded as sacred, which involves the possession of documents pertaining to settle an estate worth $70,000,000, a stranger man, according to the story of Margaret Martin, a trained nurse, living at 211 Sagh Weber street, visited her in Denver and [illegible] to divulge information that she believes was stolen to [illegible] in a conspiracy to rob her of her share in a diamond mine in South Africa. Refusing the offer of the value the information, she was later visited by a New York lawyer, who tendered $2,000 for a release of her claim to the estate.

Miss Martin says she arranged a meeting between her lawyer and the New York lawyer, who says he name as lawyer, but that the latter failed to keep the appointment. After the second unsuccessful attempt to secure the knowledge, she was visited by a man from Denver, who gave his name as McDonald. Like the others, he refused to throw light on the mystery of the visits and the offers of monetary reward for information that would lead to the recovery of the papers.

Has Had Love Romance.

According to the story of Margaret Martin, she, when a little girl, was taken into the home of Mrs. Henry Whitelaw in London. George Laidbert Gairbraith, a nephew of the English woman, fell in love with the girl and after she had repulsed his advances, planned a terrible revenge. On the eve of her wedding to the man she loved, Gairbraith called down a curse upon the couple, and upon the morning of the wedding Miss Martin received word that her betrothed met death in a shipwreck.

Years passed, and Mrs. Whitelaw, Miss Martin and Gairbraith came to Denver. The girl was sent away from the hotel on a pretext and during her absence, Mrs. Whitelaw, an invalid, died. Upon her return, Miss Martin learned that the body had been spirited away by the nephew, and that he had also carried away a steel safe containing $6,000, her savings for years.

The dying confession of a South African miner, supposed to be Gairbraith, reached Miss Martin several months ago. In his confession, the miner expressed a desire to atone for the terrible wrong he had done the girl. Since that time no clue has developed that would lead to the solution of the mystery. Relatives of Mrs. Whitelaw, upon learning the facts, are attempting to help untangle the affair, and it has come to their knowledge that Mrs. Whitelaw, making a confidant of the girl, intrusted her with the secret of the hiding place of valuable papers that give the clue to a diamond property worth many millions.

Glee and Mandolin Clubs Make Hit at Perkins Hall.

The Colorado College Glee and Mandolin clubs appeared at Perkins hall last evening for the first time this season before a very large audience. The program was well rendered and the clubs received many encores for their work. J. C. Hanna made a hit with his various readings. The club will close up the most prosperous season it has ever had this evening with a concert in Manitou. F. R. W. Stice, manager, and H. M. McQuat is due much of the success of the tour.

FUND STILL GROWING

D. B. Fairley Gives $100 to Colorado College Endowment.

Another contribution of $100 has been made to the Colorado College endowment fund, in addition to several of smaller amounts received during the last few days. R. W. Chisholm, secretary of the citizens committee, has received a check from D. B. Fairley for $100 as a subscription to the fund. The total fund is now in excess of $512,250.

HUB INAUGURATES SALE

The annual winter clearance sale of the Hub Clothing company is in full blast, and mammoth and unprecedented reductions made on their superb stock are making this sale one of the most notable bargain events in men's and boys' clothing the people of Colorado Springs have ever enjoyed. Only the finest and most dependable grades of merchandise are handled by the Hub and the reductions made by them, while radical, will be lived up to to the letter.

It is the well-known policy of the Hub to [illegible] their entire [illegible] before [illegible] and [illegible] sharp cutting and fashions take advantage of this sale.

PEACE DOVE WINS OUT

CLARA ALLIS DISMISSES DIVORCE SUIT.

Wealthy Ranchman and Wife Agree to Forsake Courts and Resume Domestic Ties.

Mrs. Clara Allis through her attorneys Saturday sent in an attempt to have the decree of divorce granted her husband, Charles A. Allis, a week ago, set aside. At the same time that a motion of this character was filed in the county court, the attorneys filed a motion in the district court to dismiss the suit she had brought for a divorce from Mr. Allis.

This case is one of the most [illegible] that has been seen in local courts in years. According to affidavits, Mrs. Allis has been married and divorced three times. Allis was her second husband, against whom she brought divorce proceedings. But after [illegible] the case when a settlement was agreed upon. Allis then filed [illegible] and the decree was granted in the district court, June 12, 1907. Mrs. Allis was [illegible] alimony.

Mrs. Allis on December 30, 1907, married Charles H. Fields, in Pueblo, but five years later he obtained a divorce on the grounds of desertion. In the meantime, Allis had prospered. His former wife, therefore, proceeded to court in an effort to secure an increased alimony. Her first step was to file suit in the county court to set aside the former decree on the grounds that she had not been a party to it. At the same time she filed a suit for divorce from Allis in the district court. Affidavits disclosing the fact that she had since married, and that she had given W. D. Lambert power to represent her in the trial for divorce instituted by Allis, were filed by Orr & Cunningham, attorneys for Allis. These affidavits are thought to be the cause of the dismissal of the case, Attorney J. A. Orr stating that no settlement has been effected out of court, and that the withdrawal of the case was at the insistence of Mrs. Allis.

Mr. and Mrs. Allis live at Monument, and are well known in this city.

WILL DEDICATE NEW CHURCH

Bishop Olmsted of Denver to Conduct Special Services in Church of Good Shepherd.

Special services will be held in the Church of the Good Shepherd, corner of Third and Jefferson streets tomorrow for the purpose of dedicating the remodeled church. Last summer the old church was practically destroyed by fire. Since that time it has been rebuilt and now is one of the most of the smaller Episcopal churches in the diocese of Colorado. The two most important improvements in the church over the old one, are the two rooms added, one for the use of the choir and the other for a sacristy. The whole church was raised about two feet and a firm foundation put in. A furnace room was built in the basement, the interior of the church completely renovated and new carpet laid.

In addition to the dedicating of the church, the services tomorrow will mark the sixth anniversary of the present rector in the church. During the stay of the Rev. Mr. Heal the church has been freed from an indebtedness of about $500. In addition to this work the rector has been instrumental in the improving of the church, the grounds and the rectory. During his stay there have been 54 persons baptized, 53 confirmed, 27 couples married and 21 persons buried.

The services tomorrow will be conducted by the Right Rev. Charles S. Olmsted, bishop of the diocese. He will preach both morning and evening, at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m.

TO ANSWER FOR THEFT

Warrant Charges Chambermaid With Larceny of Clothes.

Because she replenished her own wardrobe from those of guests of the hotel, Margaret Humenick, employed last summer as a chambermaid at the Cliff House, in Manitou, will have to answer to the charge of larceny in the local courts. The woman succeeded in eluding the officers of the law for several months, the warrant for her arrest having been sworn out in September by Manager Nichols. She was located yesterday in Holly, Colo., and an officer from the sheriff's office left last night to bring her to this city.

Forty thousand pounds of turkey were provided for the celebration of Christmas on the Atlantic fleet, which is on its way to the Pacific.

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. To get its beneficial effects always purchase the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading drug gists.

MAIL CLERKS WERE BUSY

Postoffice Business in December Was Record-Breaker.

During the month of December the Colorado Springs postoffice handled over 20 tons of mail or exactly 41,834 pounds. Christmas packages flooded the mails during the month and especially increased the showing made in the weights of fourth class matter which includes merchandise consignments. Of the grand total for the month, 11,337 pounds of fourth class matter was sent from the local postoffice, or eight times as much as was handled during the month of November. The heaviest business was handled on the Saturday before Christmas when 3,600 pounds of third and fourth class matter composed of packages weighing one ounce or more formed a part of the bulk of the day's transactions.

The third class matter for the month aggregated 7,521 pounds, the second class matter totaled 12,897 pounds, and the first class matter which includes letters weighed 9,191 pounds.

DANTE IS PRODUCING QUANTITIES OF ORE.

Values Range Between $25 and $60 in Gold to the Ton—Tons of Ore Broken Down.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 10.—The British-American Leasing company which has leased for the Dante property on Bull hill, has, up to and including this date, shipped one hundred and [illegible] than 21 broad gauge cars of ore to the mills at Colorado City. The grade of ore, which is being marketed, varies considerably and runs from $25 to $60 in gold to the ton.

The ore on the 500-foot level is being broken down at a great rate while it was only a few hundred days ago that the company completed the Dante incline to a depth of 500 feet, or to the present level. There was one foot, several hundred feet in the shaft, and this cost paid practically all expenses incurred in the dead steps. The management now has now decided to sink another 50 feet, which will make the shaft 550 feet deep. There is known to be ore all the way down so far, the sinking will cost nothing.

This is without question the most remarkable lease now being operated in the Cripple Creek district. For years, mining men took leases and would get small pockets, and finally turn the lease back to the company. It was not until the British-American Leasing company was organized and secured a long-time lease that any material results were obtained. And this company had expended over $10,000 before an ounce of ore was shipped.

It is now conservatively estimated that before the expiration of the lease this company will net over $1,500,000. The entire Dante property is a network of veins of large dimensions and carrying splendid values. There is enough ore in sight at the present time to keep the mine running, even though not another pound of ore is uncovered for a year. There are thousands and thousands of tons broken down in the mine awaiting to be hoisted, sorted and shipped. If the company was able to get railroad cars as rapidly as desired, the company would be able to handle from the output of ore at the rate of three broad gauge cars per day, and perhaps if it was desired, even more could be shipped.

ORE SHOOT RECOVERED

Silver Tip May Again Become a Producer.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 10.—Lessees Albiss and Whitehead, who took a lease a short time ago on the Silver Tip claim belonging to the United Gold Mines company on Bull hill, immediately east of the celebrated Wild Horse property, shipped out a car of ore, which it is believed will give returns of about $25 in gold to the ton. The lessees have opened up a vein which is about two feet wide at an approximate depth of [illegible] feet and north of the shaft about 40 feet. The ore shows some sylvanite in small specks.

Considerable work was done on the Silver Tip claim about two years ago and the shaft was sunk to its present depth and laterals were run. The ore is a fair grade, but the shoot [illegible] proved of proved and work was suspended. It is believed that Messrs. Albiss and Whitehead have recovered the shoot and [illegible] will get wider as work progresses.

ITCHING HUMOR ON LITTLE BOY

His Hands were a Solid Mass, and Disease Spread All Over His Body—In Four Days the Child was Entirely Cured—Mother Strongly RECOMMENDS CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"One day we noticed that our little boy was all broken out with itching sores. We first noticed it on his little [illegible] then, and we didn't think anything serious would result. But the next day we heard of the Cuticura Remedies being so good for itching sores, and that I thought I would get them. By this time the disease had spread all over his body, and his hands were nothing but a solid mass of this itching disease. I went to the drug store and purchased a box of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment, and that night I stripped my little boy and took the Cuticura Soap and lukewarm water and washed him well. Then I dried him with a soft bath towel, and took the Cuticura Ointment and rubbed him thoroughly with it. I did this every evening before I put him to bed and in three or four nights he was entirely cured. You have my permission to publish this because anybody who suffered as my baby did ought to know of the Cuticura Remedies. I will surely and gladly recommend the Cuticura Remedies for they are a godsend to all suffering with skin diseases. Mrs. Frank Donahue, 208 Fremont St., Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 16, 1907."

SENTIMENT MUCH IMPROVED

Commercial Loans Are Being Made With Far More Freedom—Dun's Weekly Report.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—R. G. Dun and Company's Weekly Review of Trade will say:

Sentiment has improved in response to the brighter outlook, commercial transactions are being made with more freedom than at any recent date. As much progress in business was only held back by inability to raise funds, the easier money market encouraging expectations that extended contracts will now be placed. Improvement of idle machinery has perceptibly decreased, iron and steel production had fallen very low before the revival set in, output of pig iron in the beginning for the month being smaller than at any time in four years. This curtailment of output has maintained prices fairly steady, the average now being higher than on July 1, 1907. Several orders for structural steel are under negotiations, but most mills are idle pending the accumulation of more business. Thus far the lower quotations for galvanized sheets and tin plate have not stimulated purchases. Numerous railways are arranging for delivery of rails for the year 1908, and this business should be placed very soon.

Some commodities in market, however, have been made at slightly higher prices than prevailed last week, with no improvement in natural, which now comprises most of the 17 items. Foreign dry hides are distinctly stronger.

SHIPS ORE OF MILL GRADE

Paculewicz Secures Lease on the Mollie Kathleen.

Special to The Gazette.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Jan. 10.—The Mollie Kathleen, which lies on the west slope of Tenderfoot hill and just above the El Paso Gold King, where a good young fortune seekers have in the past been expended in trying to locate the famous shoots opened up in its neighbor to the south, is now under lease to Dominick Paculewicz, who has during the past few days, shipped four two cars of ore of high grade. Paculewicz is mining on fair sized veins near the surface.

On the El Paso Gold King a tonnage of about four cars a week is being shipped out and the ore is said to be giving returns of from $30 to $40 in gold to the ton. The ore from this property is being mined from three or four different levels. This is the first mine ever found on the Cripple Creek district, and it has been producing steadily for over 17 years. This property is controlled by Messrs. Lennox and Giddings of Colorado Springs.

STOCKS BECOME DULL

MUCH PROFIT TAKING IN THE EARLY MARKET.

Buoyant Upshoot of Prices Marks the Opening—Professional Party Unusually Active.

NEW YORK, Jan. 10.—After opening with a buoyant upspurt of prices, which gave a natural expansion to the idea in stocks, and thus manifesting an appearance of good action for a time, it began to be manifest that the professional operators in the stock market had been busy taking their profits in the early buying of the [illegible] sessions [illegible] in midnight conferences which [illegible] The reaction of the stock [illegible] which has been driven to cover by the extent of the advance satisfied a limited [illegible] one source.

The early market today showed some expansion of commitments [illegible] also attributed to the appearance of [illegible] and a strong tone [illegible] the market. This [illegible] facilitated the taking of profits by the professional party, which [illegible] up to the point. The [illegible] became dull and [illegible] in accordance with [illegible] movements.

There was little in the news of the day to indicate marked change in [illegible] conditions. The [illegible] of the weekly [illegible] showed a very large [illegible] in the amount of [illegible] held [illegible] which [illegible] into sight during the week. This [illegible] it is argued, represents the [illegible] of hoarded funds [illegible] the [illegible] in the [illegible] of distribution.

The inflow of cash from the interior has been large, [illegible] the banks [illegible] in excess of New York [illegible] movement, being estimated at [illegible] quarter of a million. [illegible] the last of the gold engagements [illegible] to arrive [illegible] a small exception [illegible] unusually [illegible] The stock market [illegible] from a sharp reaction when these figures appeared. A heavy cash gain for the week had been taken for granted, however, through the week, following the evidence of last week's bank statement of [illegible] the movement.

The speculation in stocks during the week has been based largely on the [illegible] that the result in the legal [illegible] of the New York banks would be practically wiped out [illegible] last week. Last Saturday the deficit stood at $1,708,[illegible] [illegible] reduced it to [illegible] substantial loan reduction.

Discounts [illegible] to fall in the great foreign money centers and the Austrian imperial bank marked down its official rate. An item of the day's news was the official statement of the gold production [illegible] in December which rose to $18,[illegible] a record output for any month.

With the action of the stock [illegible] by the speculative profit-taking there came into consideration some of the topics which were driven into the ground by the bective rise in prices. Financial [illegible] of some railroad systems [illegible] which [illegible] not look save [illegible] protected dividends. [illegible] Southern railway securities [illegible] Rapid inflow of cash to banks [illegible] expected to be taken [illegible] United States Treasury [illegible] some [illegible] withdrawals of government deposits [illegible] banks. Another [illegible] ment for additional cash is suggested by the movement of the trust companies towards [illegible] in the New York clearing house, which will [illegible] a very marked increase in cash holdings by those institutions. The market's weak [illegible] was [illegible] the influence of the [illegible] of Southern railway stocks and bonds with the strong suggestion of [illegible] [illegible] complaints.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value $2,[illegible] United States 4s, coupon, [illegible] per cent on call.

WHEAT MARKET WEAK

FOREIGN ADVICES HAVE DEPRESSING EFFECT.

Price Declines Almost One Cent in May Option—Slump Due to Reports of Rain in India.

CHICAGO, Jan. 10.—Rain in India and a increase of heavy shipments of wheat in Argentina, the latter part of this month, caused weakness today in the wheat market. The May delivery at Liverpool showed a net loss of [illegible] cent, and there were [illegible] lower prices to the lowest.

The wheat market opened firm because [illegible] European cables, but before the end of the first hour sentiment had become bearish and prices had declined nearly 1 cent from the high point. The slump was due to reports of rain in India, where moisture was greatly needed, and to advices from Argentina, which predicted that the exporting of the new crop of wheat would be on a large scale within the next two weeks. The weakness of corn also had a depressing effect on wheat. The market rallied heavily just late in the session when there advanced about [illegible] from the low point in covering by shorts, based upon an improved demand for flour here and at Minneapolis, and on export news, which claimed 50 boatloads of wheat sold today to foreigners. The close was steady. May opened unchanged to ¼ higher, at $1.08¾ to $1.07, sold off to $1.06¾ and closed at $1.09¼. Clearances of wheat and flour were equal to [illegible] bushels.

The corn market was weak the entire day, the late rally in wheat having little effect. Chief depressing influences were [illegible] and [illegible] hills. An official forecast of colder weather tomorrow also aided the bears. The market closed weak. May opened ¼ to ½ lower to a shade higher, at 60⅞ to 61, sold off to 60¼ and closed at 60½.

Trade in oats was again exceedingly dull and featureless with the market inclined to be weak because of a slump in corn. May opened a shade higher, at 42½, sold off to 41¾ and closed at 41¾.

Continued heavy receipts of live hogs here and at western packing centers brought out free selling of provisions by local packers, which resulted in considerable weakness. The buying was mainly in shorts. At the close May pork was off [illegible] at $15.42, lard was down 20c, at $8.97, ribs were 12½c lower at $7.27.

Married Women

Every woman covets a shapely, pretty figure, and many of them deplore the loss of their girlish forms after marriage. The bearing of children is often destructive to the mother's shapeliness. All of this can be avoided, however, by the use of Mother's Friend before baby comes, as this great liniment always prepares the body for the strain upon it, and preserves the symmetry of her form. Mother's Friend overcomes all the danger of child-birth, and carries the expectant mother safely through this critical period without pain. It is woman's greatest blessing. Thousands gratefully tell of the benefit and relief derived from the use of this wonderful remedy. Sold by all druggists at $1.00 per bottle. Our little book, telling all about this liniment, will be sent free.

AN OLD CUSTOM REVIVED.

From the St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

The custom of crying "police" which had been virtually abandoned because it seemed futile, will be revived by the experience of John McAllister.

Mr. McAllister was held up the other night near De Ballivite and Delmar avenues. In the excitement of the assault he forgot that no one cries "Police!" any more, and he revived the custom with lusty lung.

Faith in the result will be greatly strengthened by what happened. A policeman was within easy hearing. He ran in the right direction. Mr. McAllister was rescued and one of the highwaymen was captured.

[illegible] which is [illegible] McAllister, [illegible] call "Police." It is still "You [illegible]

HAY AND STOCK RANCH

We can sell you the finest and best-equipped ranch in El Paso County; has nearly 1,000 acres of meadow, meadow and pasture land; cuts over 500 tons of hay annually from the alfalfa and blue stem meadows; has a commodious 10-room house, and out of 4 rooms, maple floors, sheds and corrals for several hundred head of cattle and horses. A gravity water system furnishes the purest of soft water for house use, lawn and barn yard. There is a small orchard of choicest fruits of various kinds. Corn, oats and other crops are grown annually on this ranch. Sugar beets grown on this ranch last year brought $95.00 per acre.

5,000 acres of well watered pasture land will carry a goodly number of cattle and horses the year around. Plenty of good grass, never failing supply of pure water, and shelter from storms and cold, will insure to the owner of this ranch fat cattle, winter and summer.

The water rights for irrigation purposes which go with the ranch are, without question, the best in this county. An ample and perpetual supply runs continually.

[illegible] plant. Being situated on the main line of two railways, with a railway station on the ranch, makes shipping facilities easy. Don't look any further for a better hay and cattle ranch. You can't find it.

And the price is ridiculously low—less than $30 per acre. Only $[illegible] for this magnificent ranch.
